

Liberty, North Carolina
October 1, 2007

Dear Prospective Birth Parent,

Candice is a precious and dear grandchild who holds a very special place in my heart. From a small playful child she has developed into a very compassionate, creative and committed woman. She has a zest for living and appreciates and actively enjoys each day to the fullest.

Almost ten years ago on a beautiful, rainy March day, she and Todd were married and they have built a loving home life together. They are a loving couple that desires to grow their family with a child – and they have much love to share with a child.

Both have lived exemplary lives personally, professionally and spiritually. They are patient and thoughtful and giving of their time, talents and gifts. I have watched Candice give, with love and joy in her heart, to all of the young children in her family and Todd's family, to the neighbors' children, and to the children of friends. She gives of her time, talent and small treasures, whether it is a walk to collect pretty autumn leaves, a batch of chocolate/peanut butter cookies or a surprise pair of silly colorful socks!

As I approach eighty years old, I can say with confidence that Candice and Todd would be excellent and kind parents who would provide a warm, stable and Christian environment for a child. Please consider this special couple as they are truly wonderful.

Sincerely,

Grandma N.

Grandma N.