

Liberty, North Carolina
October 1, 2007

Dear Prospective Birth Parent:

What a wonderful life your child would have if you chose Candice and Todd as his/her parents. The child would be loved, cared for, educated, well fed, played with and would enjoy a well-rounded social life. (As his or her grandmother, I'd make sure there was some spoiling, too!)

Candice has an outgoing personality and is well liked by everyone. She is still a kid at heart who loves children and gets down on their level to play, read, chase and hug. When she was a teenager, she was the sitter of choice by both parents and their children because she made sure the children had fun, were safe, cared for and she could be trusted. She likes to cook, entertain (soup night in the winter and low country boils or cookouts in the summer), volunteer within her community (including children's organizations), make jewelry, listen to blues, hike and she loves to travel - whether in the city, state, across country or another country! In middle school she wanted to become an architect and worked through high school and five years of college to get her degree. Through her love of old buildings, she and Todd bought an older house and have done a lovely job of remodeling it and turning a house into their home. Candice is developing a "green thumb" by growing vegetables and lots of flowers and plants. Although she tries to make healthy meals, sometimes she just has to have pizza, ice cream, black bean tacos and salsa and chips! Candice remembers her parents and grandparents on their birthdays and holidays, visits when she can, writes lots of letters and sends many cards to her family and friends. She is a very thoughtful, loving person and any child would be happy to have her as a mother!

Todd has a dry sense of humor and he is well liked, trusted and admired by his neighbors, friends and co-workers. He often helps out friends and neighbors with building or repair projects and volunteers to help on civic projects with Candice. He is an architect and has a Master Degree from Savannah College of Art and Design where he met Candice. He likes sports, plays golf, likes poker and loves to travel; other interests are music, painting, hiking and reading. He is the youngest of four children and has eight nephews and nieces whom he sees regularly. Growing up in a larger family, he learned to be patient and giving, but to stand up for himself when necessary. He and his family are very close, visit frequently and call each other regularly. Best of all, he makes Candice happy! He is a good husband and would make a wonderful dad!

You could not find a better home for a child than with Candice and Todd. Your child would be happy and safe and know he or she was very much wanted and loved!

Sincerely,

Gloria

